

Back a dream.

Social lending for social good

We believe people should be empowered by the strength of their character, rather than financially excluded by their lack of collateral. At Kiva, loans aren't just about money—they're a way to connect borrowers with a supportive network of resources, advisers, brand ambassadors, customers, and new friends.

